SOCIETY NOTES

Birthday Party

Verrell Almond entertained a number of her friends at her 12th birthday party Saturday afternoon at her home at Spout Spring.

Indoor and outdoor games were played. Many pretty presents were received. After refreshments were served out a color scheme of pink and white, all left wishing for many more happy birthdays.

Frank Dresser celebrated his 8th birthday Sunday.

Auxiliary Meets

Circle No. 2 of the Woman's Auxiliary of Memorial Methodist church held their February meeting at the home of Mrs. L. H. Ould. The program was led by Mrs. J. E. Sears.

The Bible subject was "Who were Jesus' friends?" The missionary subject was China.

Mrs. Ould served refreshments and entertained with a flower contest.

Delegates Named

The missionary circles of Liberty church met yesterday: circle No. one with Mrs. J. S. Plunkett; No. 2 with Mrs. C. E. Tarrin; No. 3 with Mrs. W. L. Brown; and No. with Mrs. R. T Lee.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Cawthorn, of New Jersey, are visiting here.

If people can't remember the day of the week without a calender, how can you expect them to remember your store without advertising?

Roominess Is 1935 Automobile Keynote

MORE room for passengers and more room for luggage is the demand of the modern motorist in his new automobile. With the introduction of the new cars at the New York Automobile Show this week, the public was able to see how far the manufacturers had gone in meeting these demands.

An example of the engineer's realization of this demand was found in the Oldsmobile, which not only gives much more room inside but provides large luggage carriers in the rear of all models.

Another feature giving increased riding comfort also marks the Olds mobile. The motor is moved ahead to permit the seats to be moved forward five inches. In this new position all passengers ride between the axles instead of over them.

The luggage compartment in the rear is large enough for a "stow away" as shown above and gives plenty of luggage room even for those whose business necessitates the carrying of several bags or sample cases.

The spare wheel and tire also are enclosed in the bottom of the luggage compartment, where they are protected from the weather.

Evergreen

Evergreen, March 6.- Rev. F. H. Mead preached a fine sermon at the Methodist church Sunday.

The social which was given by the young people's division of the M. E. church Saturday night was enjoyed by all who attended.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Farrar, of Petersburg, and two sons, were week end guests of relatives.

Mrs. C. I. Harvey and little son, of Darlington Heights, spent the week end with her mother, Mrs. Emma Thomas.

Mrs. Jessie Jennings and Mrs. Judie Evans are on the sick list.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Trent, of Lynchburg, were the guests of Mrs. W. F. Farrar last week.

Claud Edward Farrar, of Blackstone, was the week end guest of friends here.

Miss Jessie Harvey was the week end guest of Mrs. H. D. Baker.

New Safety Device Patterned After Eyes of Cats and Dogs

Left, above, Jonathan Cass Stimson, of Chicago, who discovered that the same principle that causes light to be reflected from the eyes of the Tabby in the upper right corner could be used effectively on the tail lights of automobiles. Drawing shows how a ray of light is reflected.

NEW YORK.—Eyes of cats and dogs reflecting the lights of oncoming automobiles along our highways at night have resulted in the perfecting of important new automobile and highway safety devices exhibited at this year's New York Automobile Show.

For the first time all passenger cars and trucks exhibited at this year's show are equipped with tail lights made of reflex reflector glass, while most of the latest highway safety signs are similarly equipped for the benefit and safety of night drivers.

The new reflex reflector, like the eyes of night animals (prowlers) is so designed that it is self-focusing and returns the illumination from approaching headlights to the eye of the approaching driver with little loss in efficiency.

By introducing this new feature in rear automobile lamps and in road signs, lights of approaching cars produce their own safety signals, even in cases where full lamps fail or cars have been parked without lights.

New York state, effective this month, requires reflex reflector tail lamps on all trucks and on all new passenger cars, and similar legislation is expected this year in many other states.

This new safety device is a product of the depression years and is largely the life work of Jonathan Cass Stimson of Chicago, who determined a number of years ago to make a mechanical mirror which would compare in efficiency with nature's animal eye reflector.

The beauty and variety of design used in incorporating this reflex safety feature in the various tail lamps, is a tribute to the ingenuity of the modern motor engineer.

Opportunity

ONE of the narrowing and restricting material beliefs which would rob us of our heritage of good is the belief in limited opportunity. In fact many people believe that opportunity comes but once in a lifetime, and that if it is not grasped, life for them is a failure. . . .

To those whose sphere of usefulness seems cramped and circumscribed, or whose environment appears restricted, dull, colorless, the study of the life of Joseph should prove interesting. He had none very glowing and encouraging outlook. However, he did not entertain resentment, but in every experience made use of his opportunity to prove the power of God. Thus, his spiritual thinking lifted him to become a very great statesman. The spiritual qualities he reflected, even when in the pit and in the prison, prepared him for that position of great usefulness and service to which he attained in Egypt, and through which he had a wider opportunity to use his God-given qualities of courage, wisdom, resourcefulness, mercy, and forgiveness.

Opportunity is ever present. The opportunity for greater service and happy, joyous living is ever at hand. What we need is to pray for vision, and, like Joseph, to make our present circumstances stepping-stones to a higher, nobler, truer, and purer service. If, instead of chafing vainly against certain circumstances or environment, we can our thought to the unfolding of spiritual ideas and the facts of real being, we shall find that even the false beliefs of restriction, error, and sin are but opportunity—if we are humble and humbled enough to accept it. Then shall our minds be infinite divine love govern our thinking, and we shall find inspiring, bold, free, unlimited environment giving place to richer, fuller opportunities.

Jesus said, "I can of mine own self do nothing: and "The Father that dwelleth in me, he doeth the works." His understanding of the spiritually scientific relationship which exists between God and man, as the understanding of God as Life is in some measure gained through Christian Science, opens vistas for a fuller life will be seen to be our inherent inalienable right.

Another false belief which would claim to limit opportunity is that of age. People are apt to think that when they reach what is termed advanced middle age their opportunities for usefulness are rapidly diminishing, and they begin to look on their life as nearly over. Moses at the age of eighty years might have thought that his opportunity for useful work had terminated; but during his forty years' retirement which followed his too impetuous defense of his countrymen, he was being prepared for his great lifework. He advanced in spiritual understanding to the realization of God as Mind, Spirit, and at the age of eighty his mission was unfolded to him. For forty years more he was engaged in the no light task of leading the children of Israel through the wilderness toward the promised land. Mary Baker Eddy says of him (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, p. 200), "Moses advanced a nation to the worship of God in Spirit." What an achievement! And of him the Bible records that at the age of one hundred and twenty "his eye was not dim, nor his natural force abated."

When this great mission was revealed to him, the false arguments of diffidence and reluctance to face the responsibility presented themselves to Moses; it was only when he relied on God's promise to be with him and teach him what to say and to do that his false sense of incompability and diffidence was replaced by true humility. So he went forward in his work, whereby he was given the opportunity to use the spiritual quality of meekness and receive the revelation of moral law.

On page 146 of Science and Health Mrs. Eddy says: "Except for the necessity of discipline and limiting all that is good and beautiful, all would enjoy more than threescore years and ten and would maintain the vigor, freshness, and promise. Man, governed by immortal Mind, is always beautiful and good. Each succeeding year unfolds wisdom, beauty, and holiness."

The grandeur and glory of life are strengthening before us in the eternity of good. It is not opportunity which is lacking for God is the Giver. It is the inability to perceive and receive from Him that we pray. Often our false sense of things fills the vision so that we are not conscious of the opportunity as ever at hand.

Terraces Will Control Drainage of Lowlands

Much of the poor drainage in rolling areas of farm lands in the Middle West will be controlled or reduced scientifically when the lands are properly terraced, says A. T. Holman, agricultural engineer at the federal soil erosion farm, at Bethany, Mo. Good systems of terraces frequently reclaim 10 to 20 per cent of low wet areas and at the same time save nine-tenths of the erosion losses on rolling high lands.

Forum Is Organized Here To Discuss Political And Social Issues of Today

Alfred Harwood Named President Of Appomattox Discussion Group

On Monday night, March 4, a group of young people from Appomattox met and organized the Appomattox Young People's Forum. It is the intention to make this a non-partisan, non-sectarian organization for young people between the ages og 16 and 35. The purpose of the organization as set forth in the constitution is as follows: To study fully and impartially some of the great social and economic problems of the present day, to discuss them frankly with full opportunity given for the presentation of both sides of every question, in order that they may intellingently cast their votes in any election where said questions are points at issue.

The following officers were elected: president, Alfred Harwood; vice-president, Miss Phoebe O'Brien; secretary, Miss Nola Burkey; assistent secretary and treasurer, Miss Lucile Cralle; chairman of the program committee, Mrs. T. M. Trent.

All young people of Appomattox county who are interested in knowing more about some of the vexing problems of the day are cordially invited to become members of the forum.

What's What Who's Who in WASHINGTON

Carter Field, noted capital correspondent, in a weekly letter, now gives the readers of this paper an intelligent understanding of what is going on in Washington.

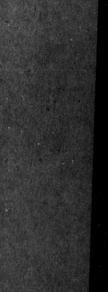
Read these brilliant, forceful and illuminating letters, which appear under the heading

SEEN and HEARD AROUND THE NATIONAL CAPITAL

Time Lost is Money Lost

It costs money to be sick., You see it directly if your pay envelope is short. You lose out on some important work if you live on a farm or if you are one of the few who are not docked for lost time. You can't afford to shoot on the job unless you are feeling fit. The boss wants results—not excuses.

How many times do Gas on Stomach, Headache, Sour Stomach, "That Tired Feeling," That "Morning After" Feeling, Neuralgic, Rheumatic, Sciatic, Muscular or Periodic Pains keep you at home or interfere with your doing a full day's work?



All these troubles are caused or made worse by too much acid in your body. To correct this condition take

ALKA-SELTZER

The New Pain Relieving, Alkalizing, Effervescent Tablet.

It is called Alka-Seltzer because it makes a sparkling alkaline drink, and as it contains an analgesic (Acetyl-Salicylate) it first relieves the pain of everyday ailments and then by restoring the alkaline balance corrects the cause when due to excess acid. Alka-Seltzer is pleasant to take, harmless, non-laxative.

Why don't you try it? Get a drink at your drug store soda fountain for a nickel. Buy a package for home use.
